

Stage Plot for The Uncle Devin Show®

Back Stage

Front Stage

The Uncle Devin Show centers on the drummer, who is also the main vocalist and plays ukulele. He uses a hybrid drum set made up of both electronic and acoustic drums and percussion instruments. Therefore, he requires two (2) Direct Line Boxes with quarter inch cable inputs. He is most often accompanied by a flute player that is connected to a vocal effects processor that also requires a Direct Box line with quarter inch input. Both musicians require a wireless, headset microphone. They can bring their own or use one provided by the sound crew. Additionally, the ukulele also requires a wireless connector, which they can also bring or use one provided by the sound crew.
